COMMITTED TO JAIL—Constable Smith, of Cedar Fork precinct, Wake county, last Thursday, brought a prisoner to the county jail, who now answers to the name of James Pearce, but has travelled under several aliases, first appearing as a preacher, then claiming to be a son of James H. Harris, Esq., of this city, and always extorting under whatever name he bore. Several charges were preferred against him on the preliminary examination held before Justice of the Peace Moring, such as horse-stealing, breaking, threatening to kill, and that he murdered his wife and three children.

The evidence was so strong against him that he was committed to jail without bail. He is now in the county jail, and is expected to remain there for some time.

Wilmington people have subscribed $1,000 toward a steam fire engine. The colored people of that city are to have a dress ball in September for the same purpose. Where is that steam engine that ought to be brought to Raleigh? One of these days we shall have a fire that will outrun the hand engines and destroy ten times the cost of a steam. Then the engine will be got to throw water on the ashes. Better get it now.

N. C. AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.—On the posted bills containing the premium list of the approaching fair, there is the following notice:

"The Executive Committee, believing that exhibitors would prefer it, has determined to give plate instead of money to the value of the respective premiums. When desired, diplomas will be issued instead of either."

The Committee, upon reflection, has altered the rule, and announces in the pamphlet copy of the premium list that "Premiums will be paid in money, or, if preferred, in plate of their respective values. When desired, diplomas, &c."

Papers in the State will please call attention to the change.

PRESENTATION.—A pleasant presentation took place at the STANDARD office last Saturday, Mr. M. W. Churchill, business manager, being the recipient of a beautiful gold-headed cane, from the composers in the newspaper department of the office. The presentation was made by Mr. L. N. Keith, the foreman, and one of the best printers in the State, with a few graceful and appropriate remarks. Mr. Churchill, in accepting the cane, briefly expressed his thanks and assured the donors that it would be treasured as a memento of their friendly spirit. The head of the cane bears the following inscription: "Presented to M. W. Churchill by the news-composers of the STANDARD office as a token of esteem."

The Central Agricultural Society, whose fair, to take place at Henderson, October 13th, 14th and 15th, we have previously noticed, offers premiums to the amount of nearly $1,000. The farmers in that section are among the most enterprising in the State, and a big show may be expected.

New COTTON.—The first cotton of the season was brought to market Friday by Mr. Jeff Fisher. It is classified as middling, and sold to Messrs. Upchurch & Dodd at 34 cents. Much as has been said about the cotton being late, it is many years since new cotton appeared in this market in August.

ACTORS.—Nine horses were recently consigned, for sale, to New York, the lively steed of this city, by James McCullough, Esq., of Warren county. Two or three of them were put up at auction this morning, but the bidding was so low that the sale was stopped, and the horses will be held for private sale at the stable.

The Standard thinks the publication of Bishop Atkinson's appointments in the STANDARD were too late to do any body any good, and attempts to be merry over it, without publishing them itself. The Wilmington Journal requested the STANDARD and Standard to publish them, and we immediately did so without comment, being ever ready to respond to a courteous request, even though we could see no use in it.

STUCK BY LIGHTNING.—On Sunday evening last the lightning struck the chimney of the dwelling house of Mr. A. S. Sneed, four miles distant up the river road to Danville, and completely demolished it. Mr. and Mrs. Sneed were both badly stunned, and beyond the recovery of the latter. The house was entirely destroyed, and the inmates of the house certainly had a very narrow escape.—Milan Chronicle.

AN OPINION ON CORRUPTION.—Messrs. Todd, Dunn & Co., of Baltimore, say:

"We give it as our opinion that cotton will sell high, all through the season, and that in view of the short supply, planters and factors can regulate the price."

Already large sales for future delivery have been and are now being made at 31 and 30 cents for September and October, 29 for November, 27 for December, and 27 for January, 1891. Grains low, middling, and if the season prove unfavorable, or an early frost should come, prices would go very high.

DEATH IN A WELL.—A colored man named Moton, engaged in cleaning out a well for Mr. Alexander, near the Hyco plantation, near Leesburg, died on Friday last by descending into a well after several ineffectual efforts had been made to send down a lighted candle. Moton foolishly carried with him a lantern, and had proceeded some distance when he called to them to pull him up, but when about six feet from the top of the well he fell backward into the water, and supposed to be dead when he fell out.—Milan Chronicle.

POISONED.—We learn from Capt. Obadiah Woodson that his wife and two children were poisoned, on Monday morning, about 10 o'clock in the day, the children being first affected. When Mrs. Woodson and the servants in the kitchen to make it. Soon the coffee was made, brought in, and Mrs. Woodson and the children drank of it. The mother and children were then violently sick, vomiting and giving evident signs of being poisoned. Mrs. Whitehead Sumner was called in, and pronounced them poisoned, and it is thought by the coffee.

We are glad to be able to state, however, that Mrs. Woodson and the children are now better, and thought to be out of danger.—Examiner.

HOW FARMERS MAY SUPPLEMENT THEIR SOLE CROP CORN.—A correspondent of the Hillsboro Recorder gives the following valuable suggestions to farmers in every section of the State where the crops are cut short by the drought:

"The corn crop throughout this section of the State is a failure; not more than one-half, perhaps not one-third the usual crop can be expected. What is the duty of the farmer under the circumstances? Can he by no 'hook or crook' (don't look I mean) meet the emergency, and in spite of the half-filled crib, still feed his family, his cattle and horses, and keep his crops? He can, if he will, by getting up his corn and roll up their sleeves, 'case talking about the drought and hard times, and go to work in good earnest, as if they were not beginning the year's work with the brightest prospect to cheer them. Let them turn over lands on the creeks and branches that are not planted where they have harvested, and can be planted where they have harvested a bushel or three pecks to the acre, and harrow it; and they will make from ten to forty bushels to the acre according to the quality of the land. It is not too late to sow this week or next week. Should September be a seasonable month the yield of buckwheat sown now will astonish any farmer who has never sown it. I have sown it and know where I speak."

Farmers in this section value the turnip root. Let me assure them that there is no better soil for the turnip root than the soil of the turnip crop. Fed on turnips his cows will yield him abundant milk and butter, and the winter will be a success. Let him sow the turnip root, and get it with half the corn. His sow and pigs will be in good condition till spring, fed on boiled turnips. Sleep is very fond of the turnip (not boiled) and keep it on them. To make a good yield of turnips the soil must be rich. Therefore let every farmer go to work, and sowing immediately. Turnips are no time to lose, still there is time enough yet. Let him scrape up every pound of manure of every description on his premises. Turnips feed greedily on any kind of manure. Don't leave a corner of horse or cow dung in the stable. Sowing every day of ashes from the chimneys; a bushel of ashes is worth a dollar in gold. Break the clods, pulverize thoroughly, and when it rains you will be ready to sow.
